The Department of Agriculture, Conservation & Forestry, is currently recruiting to fill a Veterinarian position in Augusta.

BRIEF JOB DESCRIPTION: This is an investigative and protective services food safety position that provides veterinarian leadership and management for inspection of slaughterhouses and other meat processing businesses. This position provides technical veterinary assistance to Maine's food producers, processors, and retailers. Position is also responsible for verifying program compliance to U.S.D.A. Federal requirements to maintaining equal to status of State program to the Federal Meat & Poultry Act through submissions of self-assessments and validation of program. The work performed is highly technical and specialized and employee receives no technical supervision for standard veterinary activities. Additional training to perform specific functions beyond typical veterinary repertoire (e.g. forensics, meat inspection, incident command) may be required as determined by the supervisor. Training may require out-of-state travel for extended periods. Work is performed in concert with other state veterinarians, and is performed under administrative direction.

MINIMUM QUALIFICATIONS: A current license to practice veterinary medicine and one (1) year of professional veterinarian experience beyond such licensure.

Special Requirements of the position: As a conditional offer of employment is made, the candidate selected for this position must obtain a State of Maine Veterinary License before being able to perform the duties of this position. If the selected candidate is not licensed in Maine, the opportunity to obtain this license will be offered and scheduled prior to the candidate being employed.
